

Dulwich Outdoor Gallery

Dulwich Outdoor Gallery, founded by Ingrid Beazley FRSA (1950-2017), is a collection of street art on walls and pavements in the vicinity of Dulwich Picture Gallery. It has been created by some of the top street artists alive today.

Their works have a common theme - they are based on the 17th and 18th century paintings in the permanent collection in Dulwich Picture Gallery ³³.

Street art is probably the world's greatest international contemporary art movement. Here it is linked to art from the past, positioning it in the continuum of art history and making Dulwich Outdoor Gallery unique.

England's oldest public art gallery has been an inspiration for its newest.
